The History of Main Street

- Historically, Main street was the primary commercial hub in American communities (pre-WWII).

- Suburbanization and marketplace changes created a movement away from downtown commerce centers.

- Changes in local and federal policy affected how historic buildings were managed, maintained.

- MainStreet is a movement to preserve historical assets while rebuilding vital economies in downtown communities.

E-Based Economic Development

- “Classic”, large-scale economic development
- Manufacturing, construction, infrastructure, transportation
- Recruits external business (Technology, Auto, etc.)
- Leverages public funds for incentive (tax abatements, job training funds, etc)
Asset-Based Economic Development

- Focuses on “bottom up” community driven economic development projects
- Enhances small business core of a community - retail, hospitality, entrepreneurism
- Focuses on local “assets” that are unique to each community (arts, culture, agriculture, etc.)
- Leverages local investments (public and private) for economic projects.
Asset-Based Economic Development

Is based on the principles of...

1. Appreciating and mobilizing individual and community talents, skills and assets

2. Community-driven development rather than development driven by external agencies
Asset-Based Economic Development

- Focus is on creating and enhancing community treasures
- Change is achieved by building relationships
- Individuals in the community are seen as owners and producers, not customers
- Assets represented by buildings, history, culture, people, policy-makers, groups, networks, and previous plans that already exist in the community.

Asset mobilization is an ACTION step that requires organizing and harnessing the relationships that exist within the community.
Five Keys to Asset-Based Economic Development

- Appreciative Inquiry: Identify and analyze the community’s past successes.

- Social Capital: A critical asset that leverages the power of associations and informal linkages within the community.

- Participatory Approaches: Build empowerment and ownership in the community economic development process.

- Collaboration: Establish community economic development practices that place priority on collaborative efforts.

- Civic Engagement: Engage people as citizens (rather than clients) in development and how to make local governance more effective / responsive.
The Role of the Local MainStreet Affiliate

1. Serves as a centralized infrastructure with dedicated staff to lead the revitalization process.
2. Structures processes that lead to common economic development goals
3. Assumes responsibility for shared performance on economic development projects via the Four Points
4. Maintains continuous communication with stakeholders
5. Constantly support participants and activities to build incremental successes.
6. Implements economic development goals and strategies and monitors economic development outcomes.

Asset-Based Economic Development via NM Arts & Cultural Districts and Frontier Community Projects

- ACD’s focus on enhancing the “Creative” or “Cultural” Economy, positioning arts and culture as the center of revitalization and community economic development efforts.

- Frontier Communities Initiative focuses on community economic development support in rural communities (pop. <7,500) to develop a catalytic economic development project.

- Like MainStreet, each must demonstrate positive economic impact in job creation, business development, business creation/expansion, leveraging of private sector reinvestment, or enhancement of the community’s economic environment.
