New Mexico’s Local Economic Development Act (LEDA)

Adopted by the Legislature in the 1990s as a response to the Anti-Donation Clause of the state Constitution

Intention is to enable public investments in local economic development projects
LEDAR Overview

- Both state (through EDD) and local governments may make LEDA investments.
- Process requires a project application with documentation of job creation.
- Governing body appoints an agency to review LEDA projects.
- Projects must conform to an economic development plan.

What is LOGRT?
Local Option Gross Receipts Tax

After a community has passed the Local Economic Development Act (LEDA), the local government can bring to ballot a measure to raise the municipal local options gross receipts tax (LOGRT) by 1/8th of 1%. The additional revenue is used specifically for economic development projects.
How does LOGRT work?

There are four increments that comprise the Municipal Infrastructure Gross Receipts (MIGR) section of Local Option Gross Receipts Taxes, each accounting for 1/16% of Gross Receipts.

Many communities have already imposed the first two increments of the MIGR for various funds.

The LEDA LOGRT allows communities the option of designating two of the four increments of the MIGR for economic development plans, payment of bonds, and infrastructure improvement. This is where the 1/8% comes from.
LEDA Process

- Community passes a LEDA ordinance based on state statute
- Local government adopts an economic development plan
- Municipality may have one or more ED plans
- LEDA review agency usually an economic development agency/org. (EDO)

“Cultural facilities” is description and definition of “qualifying entity”

Local municipalities have broad powers of interpretation with local funds

Non-profits are eligible but LEDA untested
ACDs and LEDA

Local LEDA ordinance must be amended to include community investments in “cultural facilities”

Community economic development plans must be amended to include cultural economic development strategies and priority projects

Private and non-profit developers of cultural facilities may be considered
“cultural facility” means a facility that is owned by the state, a county, a municipality or a qualifying entity that serves the public through preserving, educating, and promoting the arts and culture of a particular locale, including theaters, museums, libraries, galleries, cultural compounds, educational organizations, performing arts venues and organizations, studios and media laboratories, and live-work housing facilities.
Funding LEDA projects

- Determine “qualifying entity”
- Assess community support for project
- Prepare project application - request samples from city and state
- Demonstrate economic and public benefits
- Balanced budget should include diverse investors and cash flows
- Pledge security equal to LEDA investment
